

The Rivington Foundation
Primary View:

At Rivington Foundation Primary
we know that effective learners are:

- Are resilient learners and never give-up.
- Reflect on their performance.
- Demonstrate reciprocity to others.

But we know that effective learners are happy learners. One of our key values is to demonstrate politeness and kindness to everyone.

Remembering this value will :

- Ensure that we have happy learners.
- Prevent bullying from taking place in our school.

We don't have a bullying problem at Rivington Foundation Primary and by working together we intend to ensure that it remains that way.

- Ensure that we have happy learners.
- Prevent bullying from taking place in our school.

We don't have a bullying

At Rivington it's easy to remember our Anti-Bullying code—it's as simple as ABC!

Always tell someone

Tell a responsible adult or a friend. Someone to resolve the situation. You WILL be taken seriously.

Be positive

Try not to let the bully see that you're upset. Say no and walk away confidently.

Care for each other

You have a responsibility to tell an adult if you know someone is being bullied. Don't be a bystander!

Bullying can be any of the following:

- Verbal
Name calling, taunting, teasing or threatening (including racial abuse).

- Cyber-bullying
Abusive, threatening or upsetting text messages or e-mails through ALL electronic communications: the internet, the creation or membership of a hate group and inappropriate photography or video.

- Physical
Pushing, punching, hitting, kicking or in any way causing physical harm.

- Social Exclusion
The deliberate isolation of a person from a group.

SO REMEMBER...

If you are being bullied or are concerned that someone else is being bullied tell an adult and they will take you seriously. If you don't feel confident write down your concern and place it in the 'Worry Box' in your classroom.

I agree to the Rivington Foundation Primary Anti-Bullying Policy.

I understand that bullying will not be tolerated at Rivington Foundation Primary.

I know that it is my responsibility to be kind and polite to everyone I meet.

BULLYING BEHAVIOUR IS:

When an individual or group deliberately repeatedly threatens, harms or frightens someone else.

Bullying can also be persistently rude gestures, deliberate damage to property, taking property without permission, malicious gossip or forcing someone to do something against their will.

BULLYING BEHAVIOUR IS NOT:

Teasing behaviour between friends without the intention to cause hurt and where this happens in a single incident. It is not falling-out after a disagreement or quarrel (although in some instances this can be bullying). It does not include activities that all parties have consented to.
